PSALM OF LIFE

*Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time.*

*Footprints, that perhaps another,
Sailing o'er life's solemn main,
A forlorn and shipwrecked brother,
Seeing, shall take heart again.*

*Let us, then, be up and doing,
With a heart for any fate;
Still achieving, still pursuing,
Learn to labor and to wait.*

—Longfellow

The 1953
X-Ray

A trail of black footprints starts near the word 'The' and leads diagonally down the page, passing by the year '1953' and the words 'X-Ray'. The footprints are of varying sizes and orientations, suggesting a path taken by a person.

Volume 40

*The gleaming marble buildings
Where life of man is found
Stand Symbolic of their makers,
The work of God around.*

*Among these pillared tributes
To justice, truth and creed
Stands a mighty servant
To all our human need.*

*Its walls hide care and struggle,
The fight for life within,
Where toil is busy silence
Amid the city's din.*

Into the hospital halls.

Within a classroom's din,

Inside a clinic's urgency.

The hearts of us have been,

*The men alone will change
The monument still to dwell
In every dedicated heart
Which it has served so well.*

*Within each college year
Is work in every form,
Work to produce a choir
Singing loveliness in song.*

*Work to create and foster
A team to play a game
To furnish competition
With Spirit as its aim.*

*Work to hold the fellowship
Of fraternal brotherhood
And provide it with a purpose
Toward united common good.*

*Work to seek and honor
The achievement of a few,
An everlasting tribute,
A key of golden hue.*

*Our work has been our play.
For to every eager one,
A challenge is a pleasure,
Until the fight is won.*

*Our challenge is unending
While pain is at our side,
The pleasure is in serving,
With God our constant guide.*

*Into the footprints of those before,
Unmarred by ocean's tide.
Step never firmer, ready feet
In cadence strong with pride.*

*And each can alter a footprint.
The measure of the stride,
The deepness of the imprint.
The margins close or wide.*

*Some will vanish with passing time.
Others will fade with day,
But guild we now with permanence
Each step along the way.*

William Thomas Sanger

DREAMER OF DREAMS . . . .

HE BUILT FOUNDATIONS UNDER THEM . . . .

DREAMER OF DREAMS! HE CHANGED A SKY LINE!
MAY THAT EVER BE HIS BY-LINE.

HE BUILT M.C.V. TO A MEDICAL CENTER
MEN OVER THE WORLD NOW SEEK TO ENTER.

In 1838 seven men drew our constitution;
By 1860 we were a State institution.
Stewart designed with skill and zeal
The Egyptian Building adorning our seal.

When the South was rent by civil strife,
We kept on teaching and saving life;
In the Confederate States, formed by secession,
Our doors closed not a single session.

By Hunter McGuire U.C.M. was founded;
Between the two much rivalry abounded,
'Till in 1913 when they were combined
And opposing factions all aligned.

Then in nineteen hundred twenty-five
Came William T. Sanger, alert and alive;
Five buildings comprised our physical plant;
Our faculty and equipment were very scant.

Gathering 'round him men of skill,
President Sanger set out to build good will,
For he knew that back of every dream
Must be a loyal, hard-working team.

When he came our courses numbered four,
Over the years he added seven more.
His first year we graduated one twenty-two,
Three hundred last year shows how we grew.

Our buildings now number five times five;
For new additions he will ever strive.
Eleven times more funds than in 'twenty-five . . .
The State now budgets to keep us alive.

By the sweat of his brow, with pleas galore,
The president raised twelve million more;
At the doors of the wealthy he daily battered—
Their first refusals never mattered.

The word defeat he never knew;
Year in, year out, the College grew,
'Till now her hospital beacon light
Emblazons the heavens, lights up the night.

*DREAMER OF DREAMS! HE REACHED HIS GOAL!
TO M.C.V. HE DEVOTED HEART AND SOUL,
SO . . . WE DEDICATE THIS "X-RAY" OF FIFTY-THREE TO RECORD OUR PRIDE IN SUCH AS HE.*

It is with gratitude and affection that we dedicate our section to DR. OSTERUD who with infinite patience and deep understanding guided our first steps along the road of medical education.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

C. C.: Has felt "tired, broke, and nervous" for over four years.

H. P. I.: The patients between the ages of twenty-three and thirty-five years of age state that they were feeling well up until about their Junior or Senior year in college, at which time they became obsessed with the insane idea of attending med school. Hence ensued a period of doubt, letters, applications, application fees, and the costly medical achievement test, coming on the best football Saturday of the Senior year. Then they had "waity" feelings in their stomachs, heads, and lower bowels—relieved somewhat by nervously sipping beer. Then came the fateful day, and everyone eyed them queerly as they hugged and kissed the post office clerk. The incubation period was over. Fall of 1949 found them complaining of initial pressure symptoms, cutaneous neuritis, and the inability to maneuver nineteen colored pencils at one time. These symptoms were relieved by rush parties, OJ (Osterud, Jones), and Happy Hegre's skyhooks. Some complained of vague filmy feelings as they were constantly being taken to the dark room for development. "... about the extra-pyramidal system, I don't understand..." Dr. Negus' patent medicine proved to help their spring '50 fever immensely. Plenty of treatment came in the Sophomore year... dog days; Harvey Haag Day found the patients drinking Hairless Harvey's Hi test Hadaeol, singing "Poor Lil," and passing out the Schmiedeborg Award for Superior Suppositories. Some were known to break out in "night sweats" in Dr. Walker's physical diagnosis. Dr. Apperly's Pathology took them down to the morgue and up to Washington in treatment and probably closest to a cure in two words—"Know thyself." In 1951, their Junior year, the patients were well treated with new wonder "drugs" in the form of clinical experience, white jackets, black bags, West Virginia dialects, and Dr. Truslow, full time dean with wonderful ideas. Iatrogenically, some developed lectorial sacral pressure sores, and others complained bitterly of (blood) drawing pains in the early morning hours; both of which will heal with time. Thinking it would never come, fall '52 and Senioritis set in. Intern applications were extracted from the patients, typed and cross-matched. Self-confidence accelerated with St. P. deliveries, scrubblings, ER service, and home care calls. Ped and NP added polish. Not completely cured but with deep gratitude for those along the way who gave them much insight into their condition, the patients approached D (Diploma) Day with a spiking fervor and in high spirits. They had reached another take-off point in their career. And what's more fun than a take-off!!

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Buffered by various summertime occupations ranging from internships up at Hopkins, Army Clerkships, laboratory jobs, and biologic assays on the Myrtle Beach beer, the Junior class set out in its first clinical year with their head mirrors all shined, stethoscopes poised on the right hip, and their little black pearl books full of highly secretive research material.

Before long, after everyone was convinced that half of the patients at Philip were born with no heart, and that a goodly portion of the patients in ENT clinic either had no vocal chords or "I can't get this miserable mirror to focus anywhere except on that wall there," the group on O. B. learned that there was one greater mystery than the inaccessible depths of the birth canal . . . "How can they order blood work on patients that aren't to be found on the hospital premises, particularly so early in the morning?" The advent of this "Vampire service" soon reached an affectionate corner of our hearts and will probably remain calcified there for some time to come.

The other services and their more outstanding characteristics—Miss Henshaw on surgery, the remarkable vital capacity of the patients on pediatrics, and the dexterity with which we soon learned to "run 'em up from a 16 to a 28" in urology—all added greatly to our diagnostic and therapeutic acumen. On the medicine service, to some ways of thinking, we reached the culmination of our striving for knowledge; but, to others who had the extraordinary ability to get patients who were either in isolation or were diabetic acidotics with a seemingly inexhaustible supply of urine, this was doubtful.

At the close of the year, with one eye on the white pants that go with those little shirts and one eye on Harrison, the class was stumbling around, bleary-eyed, mumbling into their coffee some mystic phrase, "Brother, brother, if I ever get to be a Senior!"

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS

The class of '55 began its second year with a fervor and determination equal to that with which we originally entered M. C. V.

The legends of the Freshman year were fresh in our minds. "Focus, John," and "Dee Wah-geen-ah" would live long in our memories. Nor would we soon forget the hot-box or Norma Frontalis or the dull class meetings.

And now we entered our Sophomore year with the calm confidence born of promotion. Eighty strong (that's plus 80, Dr. Knighton), we were ready for anything. Stethoscopes jauntily protruding from coat pockets, we entered physical diagnosis class to find that we weren't quite ready for Harry Walker and "Sir?" became the most dreaded word we knew.

The inevitable nicknames were soon applied. In addition to Harpo and Tie-Toe we would remember Nero and his unique diagnostic device, Pear-shape and his pipe, Curly and his beep sessions.

The laughs were quickly produced. We would remember Hux's vicarious morning sickness, "Are you ready, Lucy?", the petitions and the signatures and Dr. Gibson's welcome from Steve. It was rumored that Steve was suffering from lack of sleep because it took him so long to line up his shoes when going to bed.

But we would remember this year, too, for more serious reasons. We were discussing diseases now, and we were beginning to realize the somewhat frightening extent of the responsibility we had so blithely accepted two years before. We were attending autopsies and CPC's now, and at last we were seeing patients.

As every other Sophomore class had done, we wistfully eyed the white coats of the Juniors, and we took delight in comforting the frantic Freshmen with the age-old "Don't worry about it."

We set no records. We did not stand out, probably, from the classes that had gone before, but we took satisfaction in the thought that while our "footprints on the sands of time" might not be exceptional, they were in good company, they were directional, and the direction was right.

FRESHMEN CLASS OFFICERS

Like the gathering of the clans for war, so we gathered that day in early September to begin the struggle that would one day win for us the responsibility of Doctor of Medicine. There we were, eighty-four of "the finest," a little apprehensive, but not ready to be put to the test. It was not long delayed. Gross anatomy led off, followed by histology. This one-two punch was staggering, but we finished strong to take that round. After that first series of quizzes, we settled down with more confidence to the work that had already been cut out for us.

The first day of dissection was filled with surprises but none greater than the ability with which those two pair of forceps found the smallest nerve in the deepest fascia. Of the lectures, the most memorable started, "Last week we were talking about . . ." then the graphite smoke hung heavy in the room as a "Huh?" and a "Ya see?" punctuated each of the many pearls. Oh, to have been ambidextrous! We were fortunate to have been the class of '56, for this year marks the retirement of one of our greatest aids and inspiration, Dr. Osterud.

A Christmas vacation with noon-hour breakfasts and home cooking did much to revive the sagging members of '56 and prepare them for crucial weeks of the new year. With the passage of February it was all down hill to June. We traveled a rocky road that first year together.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

As Freshmen in 1949, Dental School was new and a lot of hard work for most of us, confusing and full of excitement for the rest of us. A battle of the books, and a battle of fraternity rushings ensued.

As Sophomores, we cast the famous "gold rings" to fit perfectly, and began the more practical aspects of dentistry in dental materials, operative dentistry, crown and bridge, and denture prosthesis.

Finally the Junior year arrived. Clinical procedures, which everyone had looked forward to with enthusiasm, were found to be more difficult than had been imagined. After many trying hours, we began to get the "feel" of what was expected of us and what we were trying to do.

Then a light in the distance flickered through as we entered the Senior year. Certain unspecified requirements became more definite; the clinic buzzed, and the lab buzzed. The betting was high, the odds great. "Gold foil is a beautiful thing, and a beautiful thing is a joy forever" became the theme of the class.

As graduation time nears, we find only twelve members of the class still single, with three others set to wed soon. Two of the fifty in the class are in the Navy Senior Dental Program, and several others expect to be serving with the Armed Forces shortly. There are a number of proud fathers in our group, too.

M. C. V. has done much for us in these four years. It is our hope that the college will always hold the faith and pride in us that we have learned to hold for it. We will not look to the past, but will face the future with renewed vigor. With the thirst for knowledge still in our hearts, we will humble ourselves and go forth into the professional world, to continue our education.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Juniors! Time and milestones have passed so quickly. Down this pathway was encountered an abrupt, alarming awakening . . . the patient! Was that object absolutely necessary? Yes, something strange and serious had been tossed in the ring. Was it here to stay? Gradually we were forced to engage and accept it. We found time past and time present have pointed to one end.

Nerves entered the picture too, and in more ways than one . . . our own were the important ones we had to conquer. In order to assume a show of self-assuredness some of our members engaged in extra-curricular poker to learn to acquire that undisturbed somber maintenance of our unofficial motto, "Don't freeze."

As in our Freshman and Sophomore years, marriage continued with its exacting toll. The ranks of the die-hard bachelors have been nearly depleted. Among new arrivals came "Miss America of 1970."

This year brought back-breaking hours in the clinic along with long hours in the laboratory, which was especially crowded on Crown and Bridge Fridays. We'll remember sitting in the lab and hearing occasional outbursts from some unheralded songbird; boasts of unexpected accomplishments; tales of procedure woe; phone calls along with broken appointments; "coke time," along with the proper disposition of coke bottles; talk of fraternity activity; football and other sport forecasts; vigorous discussion in the 1952 presidential campaign in which Eisenhower became our thirty-fourth President; and the steadily strengthening of our friendship ties. We won't soon forget the trudging up and down stairs from locker to clinic, carrying heavy dental engines and instrument cases; setting up the chair; occasional hasty questions on procedure; sterilizing instruments; patients' charts; the mouth mirror; our first "shots"; and the steady rush, rush, rush, rush required of us.

We'll always be indebted to that first understanding clinical guidance so greatly needed and which was always at our side in times of necessity, and which was freely, graciously, shrewdly, candidly, and playfully-empirically-sarcastically given. Thus, so far, has been built our "clinical judgment." We've had lots of encouragements and lots of discouragements. It has been a wonderful year and we'll miss its passing.

The fifty-one of us who were fortunate enough to see the light through the first year now look forward toward developing a good manual technique so that next year we may begin our clinical practice successfully in the Wood Memorial Building.

Besides looking forward to a successful scholastic year, each of us looked forward to the Sophomore's dream—Saturdays off. This was something we did not have as Freshmen.

We Sophomores worked hard on rushing this year to get the Freshmen into a social life, the likes of which can be found only in the School of Dentistry of The Medical College of Virginia.

Among the obstacles that had to be overcome this year were the following: Construction of a partial denture in prosthetics; casting perfect rings in dental materials; cavity preparations in operative dentistry; orthodontic appliance construction, a course previously offered only to Seniors; performing operations on animals in physiology; casting crowns in crown and bridge prosthesis; studying the effect of certain drugs on humans in pharmacology; and attending lectures in general and oral pathology, principles of medicine and roentgenology. We must not forget the final examinations—obstacles which everyone must overcome in order to take a step closer to the promised land of dental practice.

As always, we managed to find time for a little recreation such as cards, ping-pong, golf, basketball and softball.

With everyone present or accounted for, we bid you farewell until September when we will see you in the Clinic.

FRESHMEN CLASS OFFICERS

The cloak of success which surrounds the professional man is quite often blinding to the fullest extent of its achievement.

Such was our case, when, on September 5 of this year, fifty-three men entered M. C. V. for the purpose of preparing themselves for dentistry.

The years of pre-dental study had not been in any respect easy, nor had the rigorous procedure of obtaining admission to dental school, but at last we thought, "This is it . . . we've made it," only to awake and find that we were just beginning.

Highlighting the first few weeks of school was "rush week." Parties, dances, and other social events filled the week and provided an opportunity for all Freshmen and upper classmen to get acquainted. The week ended with Psi Omega pledging twenty members of the Freshman Class; and Delta Sigma, twenty-one, with twelve members remaining neutral.

Another event which aroused considerable interest was that of class elections. At this time the class chose a president and other officers to represent it throughout the session of 1952-53. As captain of the ranks, our president took over the reins and set the pace for our most difficult and yet our most memorable year of training.

From the start we had to become accustomed to the professional surroundings, to the critical observers, and especially to a very compact schedule of classes including oral anatomy, gross anatomy, dental materials, biochemistry, prosthetics, and other courses too numerous to mention. In these courses a great deal was to be learned and retained. Skills and techniques were to be developed for future use.

The fulfillment of these requirements seemed then to be an impossibility, but with time and the excellent instruction of our professors, we have come to look upon this episode as only a prelude to the real course of events which await us in the next three years.

Dedication

To our teacher and friend who has made our life here at M. C. V. a profitable and enjoyable one. His individual interest in each student and loyal assistance are not likely to be forgotten.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Long had we waited for our chance to wear a cap and gown to the convocation, and most of us returned to participate in this service. Now, with our goal in sight, we can pause and look back upon the many incidents which have made our studies at M. C. V. long to be remembered.

We all recall the Freshman year and Dr. Hughes' "pointing finger," "generally speaking," and his assistant, Miss Goode, with her "Goode advice." We must not forget Mr. Pitts and his cigars. There are other faces we remember also: Dr. Stevenson and his "Model T"; Dr. Thomas and his "Southwest Virginia friends"; and, oh yes, another University of Richmond man, Dean Miller. Who could forget those doors at 8:00 a.m.! We can't omit Dr. Neuroth, his thermometers and oxygenated terpenes; Mrs. Rolfe and "Take a towel to the reagent desk." How about Dr. Boenigh almost forgetting his own 10:00 o'clock class? Who could forget organic and biochemistry?

Our Senior trip will not be forgotten, either. It will be recalled by each of us as the "best yet." We had a few bookworms among us, but generally speaking, we all enjoyed the many, many parties that were held. "If you will forgive me, dear Mother, I'll never get drunk any more."

Let us, the class of 1953, do our utmost to bring honor to our profession, our school, and to ourselves.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Ah! At last we have reached that realm of almighty Juniors! . . . the goal we have been striving for for the past two years; but now that we have achieved it, we are deflated since we ran into Bogarosh and the B. O.'s and P. U.'s of pharmacology—or maybe it was Neuroth and his zero quizzes. (However, there were rumors that someone made a two one time.) Then perhaps it was Dr. Smith who disillusioned us by telling us that all the alcohols were not meant for drinking purposes. Then it could have been Dr. King who, despite her insistence that first aid was a ninth grade course, lowered the boom on us when it came to grades. Yes, we soon found that the Junior year was not just the glory of wearing a white coat and looking down upon the lower classmen. Instead, we found that it was just another year of hard work in an effort to become graduate pharmacists.

There are many things we will remember about this our third year at M. C. V. Remember Doeppé and his big deals—white coats for 25 cents, his uncle's band for $25.00 (plus his commission), and too many others to enumerate. Then there was Eric and his design for specific partners in first aid bandage practice. Who would ever forget Bone's literary attempt of the year—dissertation on the bookstore! Of course, everyone will remember Willie Moore's entertaining tales of the good old days when he was a Romeo and his professional lab techniques, especially his preparation of citrate of magnesia solution. Then there was all the fun of the Halloween Dance—going out in the country at 11:00 at night to steal corn stalks and then having the music interrupted to announce Rosie's engagement (authorities estimated the cost of the diamond at $1.34).

Mingled with all this we had our serious moments, too—Dan trying to bring the class to order at meetings; Monday afternoon organic quizzes, when we tried to prepare a compound from nothing; pharmacognosy lab practicals when we were faced with the problem of distinguishing air bubbles from diagnostic characteristics; efforts in bacteriology to find a cure for the common cold. We tried everything from acid-drying, heat-fixing, to gram staining, but to no avail; slaving over long sets of records in accounting only to find in the end a .00001-cent error in the first step. After many references to our bible, the U. S. P., as to the warp and filler of gauze bandages, no wonder we are disillusioned—there are none on the market which meet these exact standards.

Yes, we could write pages about our memories of our Junior year—Abbie and his woman troubles, Pillow and his ether fines in lab, Flowers and his typing difficulties, Wilbur and his party planning, Greer and his mornings after the night before, Lily and her little lab mishaps, Stallard and Morley's midnight flights to Southwest Virginia, Cogen and his card playing—all in all, it has been a year well spent.

We had good times along with the hard work, and now we are looking forward with pride and a little regretfulness to our last and final year in pharmacy school.

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS

As always, September rolled around again this year and the Freshmen rolled back to M. C. V. as Sophomores. The summer had been as exciting as jerking sodas and selling toothpaste could make it. Now we once again began to think of our profession and its preparation.

The first day of classes brought quite a surprise. There were strangers in our midst. These foreigners were the invading transfers representing such renowned institutions as U. Va., U. of Richmond, V. P. L. Hampden-Sydney, Mary Washington, Duke, and William and Mary. It took us no time to get acquainted. Class officers were elected, and we again became a united body.

Our first objective was to have a party—and we did. It was a huge success. Many of the faculty were there. One Sophomore was even heard to remark, "I never thought of instructors as humans, but you know, he's quite a guy."

First quarter exams popped up before we knew it. Fortunately, Thanksgiving holidays followed. It took every hour of relaxation to recover from Dr. Weaver's "first quarter evaluation quiz."

Classes and basketball games and that cup of coffee at the "Skull" soon became a part of everyday life. Tests and constant reference to the future State Board examination kept us alert and aware of our purpose. We sank deeper into our education and perhaps as Sophomores began to understand its real significance.

FRESHMEN CLASS OFFICERS

On September 5th, an exceptionally bright day dawned for the sixty-two individuals that composed the new Freshman pharmacy class of M. C. V. These sixty-two personalities were beginning a new chapter in their lives. In a sense, this was the beginning of a very different and interesting new world.

We met our new classmates and instructors during the next few days through picnics, parties, and various social events that had been planned for us. This was all very nice, but the time came when we had to get down to business, and that we did.

Chemistry lab, with its hydrogen sulfide, titration, and molecular weight experiments, and botany with its life cycles, orders, classes, and genera became our daily chores. Algebra and English ended our afternoon sessions, and pharmacy "Bib Sources" confined us to the library for good portions of our time.

In the second quarter came zoology and the earthworm. Pharmacy class, now boasting the Freshmen, transfer Sophomores, and Seniors, moved to the Egyptian Building. Oh, those eight o'clock sessions!

In between all this was sprinkled a test in each class every three weeks, and of course, the quarter EXAMS.

We lived from one dance to the next. The Halloween, Christmas, Kappa Psi, and Valentine were wonderful memories we shall always hold. We watched with great enthusiasm as the fraternities tapped new members and sent them through their initiation paces. At this point, our hopes for the same paces in our second year at M. C. V. began to rise.

Yes, it was a very exciting, enjoyable, and prosperous year that we will always cherish. With all of us, our thoughts now turn to our Sophomore year, and to the years that follow for us at M. C. V.

To our friend and advisor, DR. MYRA WILLIAMS, the class of '53 dedicates the nursing section of the X-RAY. She will long be remembered for her excellent instruction, but always for her understanding of "her girls" and their problems. Our thanks to a true friend.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Maybe our footprints haven't made deep impressions on the sands of time, but we're sure our footsteps have worn away some of the M. C. V. flooring.

It all began with our getting the idea we wanted to be "women in white" and live a glorious, glamorous life. With the same idea, there were soon sixty-four round-eyed "pre-clins" enrolled at M. C. V. For six months we wondered where the patients were kept while we made more impressions on the desk seats in Nursing Arts than on the halls of the hospital.

On March 8, 1951, fifty of the original sixty-four received those long-awaited caps. At last we were on our way to each being a Junior Florence Nightingale (so we imagined). Also we had found the patients and were with them eight hours a day. About this time we were introduced to medical and surgical nursing with their "otomies," "itises," and "ostomies." But we will never forget "benzalkonium chloride" and "phenylmercuric compounds" met in pharmacology.

A year passed swiftly with night duty and relief having been duly supervised, leaving us feeling like veterans (of the Civil War.) Along here we began our special services. The O. R. held a special fascination even if we didn't always get those sutures threaded on time and if we did contaminate the operative field.

Let us not forget the diet kitchen and O. B. Especially interesting was the mad dash to HHS with a "multip" at three o'clock in the morning.

Our black bands marking our entrance into the Senior year gave a deep feeling of satisfaction. We were two-thirds of the way to our goal of being an R. N. We had reached the point of more responsibility and could now give a helping hand to the younger students.

Finally that special day—graduation. Looking back we hope we can say it was a "job well done" and maybe we have left a few footprints on the sands of time.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Juniors! How long we had looked forward to being called Juniors! Just what does being a Junior mean? It means that you are no longer in the "lowest" class and it also means that you are responsible for many things that a few days before you were "too green to be capable of doing." And yet will we ever be able to know as much as the Seniors know?

This has been a year filled with many new experiences—of ventures into the unknown world of special services—OB, OR, diet kitchen, and the clinic. It was during this year that we all had a taste of night duty, and to many of us it seems like a mighty big serving. None of us will ever be able to forget that first night with midnight lines, the forms to be filled out, the cleaning to be done, and all those new patients who decided to come in on "that" night. Then there was the first day in the OR when we saw our first operation. Some of us didn't realize how pointed our heads really were until they became encased in those lovely turbans. Those who have worked in the clinic have had many interesting and amusing stories to tell, while those who have worked in the diet kitchen have gained a few extra pounds to show for their work. In spite of the special services, there are still those who continually find themselves sent back to 3S, and 3S, and 3S.

Along with the Junior year goes the fun and struggle to raise enough money to give the Seniors "their breakfast." "Have you bought any stationery yet?" and "Have you worked on your half-day off?" were often the topics of conversation during the early spring months.

This year has not been one of all work, for many new friendships have been made and old ones have been strengthened, and as we have worked and played each one of us has developed a deeper respect and love for M.C.V.

FRESHMEN CLASS OFFICERS

"Cabaniss Hall or Grand Central Station?" . . . that is what people were wondering on September 9, 1952. We, the seventy pre-clins were just arriving for the beginning of our three years of study. So with people running about with luggage under each arm, with hellos and good-bys floating in the air, Cabaniss Hall did have the resemblance to Grand Central Station.

Many parties were given in our honor by our big sisters, the alumni association, and the fraternities. The Student-Faculty Reception gave us an opportunity to get acquainted with the faculty who were to be our guides and helpers, and with our fellow students. From the start we were made to feel that we were a part of M. C. V.

During the first weeks at M. C. V. we learned what a blessing our big sisters, the Juniors, were. They patiently answered all such questions which ranged from "Where is McGuire Hall?" to "Which fraternity has the cutest boys?" The advice they gave us and their encouragement was most valuable to us.

Pharmacology, anatomy, and nursing arts became the main interests in our lives, after our studies began. Dosage problems became our problems. Never before had we realized that the human body had so many parts, or that just filling a water pitcher could be so complicated. As the Juniors told us, "It is done in fifty-seven easy steps." Each class, however, brought closer the realization that we were really on our way to becoming nurses.

November 3 is a day the pre-clins will always remember. It was on this day we wore our first uniforms for our first trip to the M. C. V. Hospital. On this trip we had the opportunity of seeing the activities of the life that we had chosen.

March will bring to our minds more pleasant memories. It was during this month that we were capped. With this goal accomplished we started to strive for a higher goal. The goal of not just becoming nurses, but good nurses, with the ability to contribute to the already admired reputation of M. C. V.

PHYSICAL THERAPY

Miss Susanne Hirt

Dedication

TO SUSANNE HIRT whose teaching abilities are unsurpassed, whose patience and understanding of the students' many problems have made her a friend and an educator, the 1953 Physical Therapy Class humbly dedicates this section.

PHYSICAL THERAPY CLASS OFFICERS

Ninety-four steps up . . . ninety-four steps down . . . for nine months now we've trod these steps with dreams of the intangible elevator running through aching brains.

For nine months we've walked from Memorial Hall to McGuire Hall—usually stopping at the Skull and Bones for a "shot" of coffee. We've walked from histology to physiology in less time than it takes Doctor Fischer to say "Ja." There were days when we walked with Gray's in one hand and Manual Muscle Testing in the other hand—much to our surprise no one lost an arm.

We did some sitting too—we sat afternoons until our gluteal muscles had lost all sensations and we wondered if Miss Hirt could talk until 5:00 o'clock. We sat in the "Snake Pit" with our feet in our laps. We sat in labs with our heads in our hands. We sat until we thought we couldn't sit any more—but we always did.

Our only rest was in the few short months of massage, where the "impersonal but gentle touch" of our partner sent us squirming off a table. Our main objective in this class was to change clothes in less time than it took Mrs. Traina to say, "Just what do you think you're doing?"

Three months pushed on—we dragged on, and came the days when we were baked with electrotherapy, boiled with hydrotherapy and, lastly, "Browned to a turn" with phototherapy—we were all fit to be chewed.

That first patient . . . "What am I going to do with her?" we thought; now it's "That last patient—I know what I'd like to do with her!"

Time passed and we barely did, and before long we walked right into our Registry Exam—yes, we walked in, but we crawled out (oh, what a day!) and sweated until the marks finally came. What a relief—we made it!

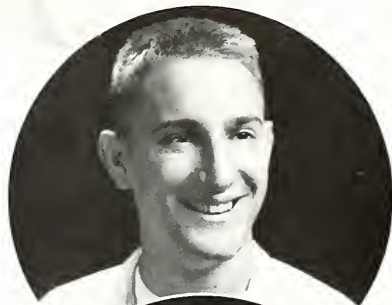

Well, it's all over now, and we are ready to go out into the big, wide, wicked world to do three months clinical and then we shall remove the student patches from our arms and become Registered Physical Therapists, the glorious end result of one never-to-be-forgotten year. Farewell to arms, legs, and torso . . . farewell to effleurage, petrissage and diathermy. Farewell to these student practices—but we now look forward to the future when we may apply these same practices as a means to aid the handicapped.

Not only are we leaving our footprints in the sands of time at M. C. V., but we'll certainly retain the many fond memories of this glorious term and the invaluable information imparted to us.

SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH NURSING

Bryant

Van Vleet

The public health nurse is an important member of a health team which usually consists of the health officer, the sanitarian, the family doctor and the nurse.

The objective of this team is prevention of disease and promotion of the health of every member of the community. This is accomplished largely through education of the public, and it is the public health nurse who has more opportunities than any other member of the team to accomplish this through her daily contacts in homes, clinics, schools and industries.

For this responsibility the graduate from a hospital school of nursing needs special preparation, and it is the objective of the public health nursing department of the Medical College of Virginia to prepare nurses for first level positions with both public and private public health agencies, who are able to function in rural as well as urban areas. To this end a program of study has been developed which includes eight months of theory, and, in addition, field experience according to the needs of the individual student.

This public health nursing program is a major for the B.S. degree in Nursing Education. It is the ultimate goal of all the students registered; however, some of them, because of the urgent demand for public health nurses, or because they are obligated to return immediately to former positions, or for other reasons, must delay this coveted award until a later date.

The School of Medical Technology offers an eighteen months course accredited by the Registry of Medical Technologists and designed to equip the student for general hospital laboratory service. Among the services included are: clinical pathology, hematology, bacteriology, serology, biochemistry, histological technique, E.K.G., B.M.R., and blood bank.

At the termination of the course students are eligible for the registration examination of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

In the modern practice of medicine the technician is becoming increasingly more important as evidenced by the number of laboratory tests requested by physicians. Quite often a complex diagnostic problem may be solved with the aid of a relatively simple laboratory procedure.

DIETETIC INTERNS

The Medical College of Virginia Hospital offers a one-year course in hospital dietetics to young women who have a B.S. degree from an accredited college or university and who can meet certain specific course requirements. The course is approved by the American Dietetic Association and, upon completion, interns are eligible for membership in the Association and may hold positions in Class "A" hospitals in the capacity of administrative, therapeutic, clinic, or teaching dietitian.

At present, the department is able to accept only twelve qualified applicants. Training is begun in September of each year, and students are housed in the John B. Newton House, one of the college dormitories. During training students receive 113 hours of lecture work, as well as practical experience in the various units. Instruction is given under the supervision of graduate dietitians in the Department of Dietetics.

Upon satisfactory completion of the course, dietetic interns are granted a certificate from the Hospital Division, and are eligible for membership in the Medical College of Virginia Alumni Association.

STUDENT COUNCIL

To the entire Student Council goes the responsibility for seeing that the Honor System is carefully and fully explained, that all elections are conducted properly, that the Student Body funds are wisely disbursed, and that the Constitution is accurately interpreted. Representatives to the Student Council are elected on the basis of one for every forty members in each class.

The Honor System is a system of self-government whereby the students themselves eliminate from their body those who fail to deport themselves as honorable men or women in all of their college matters. It is the duty of the Honor Council to try all cases considered infringements of our Honor Code. Each class elects two members to the Honor Council.

"I go for all sharing the privileges of the government who assist in bearing its burden."

—ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

We are proud that the ideals of sound government, that the proper distribution of power and responsibility, and that the triumph of right are operating within the structure of our organizations. We have practiced and upheld these principles of democratic government and living—striving always to improve and progress in our campus activities, living better as our knowledge increases.

The SKULL and BONES of 1953

Kitty Robinson
Editor

The Skull and Bones is the weekly newspaper published by the students of the Medical College of Virginia. Governed only by the Board of Publications, it is the voice of the students and one of the few important binding factors on campus. Reaching not only all the students but also faculty and hospital department members, this four-page newspaper foretells campus events and relates past happenings. The staff is by choice and is open to all schools of the college.

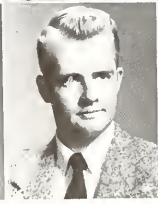

Edited this year by Kitty Robinson, Senior of the School of Nursing, the Skull and Bones had a staff of twelve students who combined talents to present it to the campus. Albert Thompson, with the help of Jim Leonard, both Pharmacy students, was Business Manager while Frances Burruss, Freshman nurse, held the position as Assistant Editor. As the tradition of twenty years, Dudley Printing Company printed the paper and Trade Compositors set the type. Lithographing was done by the Metropolitan Company.

MORTAR and PESTLE CLUB

The Mortar and Pestle Club is the student body organization of which every student of the School of Pharmacy is a member. Each year the Club sponsors addresses by outside speakers and social functions, the purposes of which are to promote interest in the college, the field of pharmacy, and create closer relationships between students.

The Club had its beginning in 1908 when a small group of students of the Pharmacy Department of the University College of Medicine met and formed a fraternal organization. After the amalgamation, in 1913, of the University College of Medicine and the Medical College of Virginia, the group was known as the Pharmaceutical Association of the Medical College of Virginia. Later the name was changed to the Mortar and Pestle Club.

The Alumni Association publishes The Scurab, a source of information on the College and the alumni and a medium of exchange of opinion. Every graduate of the Medical College of Virginia receives a copy.

The War Memorial Alumni Building houses the office of The Alumni Association. Addresses and files are kept here on every graduate. The Alumni Lounges provide meeting space for students as well as alumni.

The Alumni Association plans meetings and scientific events, both state and sectional, where alumni may meet, renew old friendships, and receive information on the College.

DENTAL STUDENTS' SOCIETY

The Dental Students' Society was organized in its present form in the fall of 1946 with an expressed purpose of promoting scholarship and professionalism among the members of the Society.

The officers of the Society and two representatives from each class form an Executive Committee whose function is to promote a yearly program for the Society and certain activities of the School of Dentistry.

Membership is open to all students of the School of Dentistry.

The Society is fortunate in having Dr. George W. Burke, Jr., as Faculty Advisor again this year. Dr. Burke has shown considerable interest and co-operated wholeheartedly with the Executive Committee in helping the Society serve its members best.

The Medical College of Virginia Y. M. C. A., with directors and a paid Secretary, was organized in 1916. Mr. Mimms W. Lee, who was then State Y. M. C. A. Secretary, was influential in helping a group to get it started. The first Secretary was Mr. Phil B. Trigg, who served until 1920, when he was succeeded by Mr. Walter C. Cralle. The latter served for one year and was followed by Mr. Earl T. Sullenger, who remained for the next two years. In September, 1923, our present Secretary, Mr. Jonah L. Larrick, was appointed, and has guided the activities of the Association in a most able and efficient manner for the past twenty-eight years.

Mr. Larrick, as Executive Secretary, has rendered invaluable and unstinting service in behalf of student activities and athletics for over a quarter of a century, and the Medical College Branch has been indeed fortunate in having such a willing, enthusiastic, and capable co-ordinator of student affairs.

The Athletic Association was organized in 1923, and now provides activities for all of the schools of MCV. The aim of the Athletic Association is to create a means of relaxation, exercise and diversion, and to supply the spirit of competition which accompanies any sports event. A complete schedule of intercollegiate play is maintained for men's basketball and baseball, and girls' basketball. The Athletic Association also supervises intramural basketball, softball, and ping-pong, and has made available student golf-memberships at the Glenwood Country Club.

In 1924, Dr. William H. Parker became Graduate Manager, a position which he still holds, and under his able leadership and guidance the Association has made continual progress. Much of the success attained during the past twenty-seven years must be attributed to the efforts of an enthusiastic leader and friend, Jonah L. Larriek, who has worked tirelessly in student interests of all types. The Association has given their whole-hearted backing to the soon-hoped-for building of a Student Field House and Athletic Building to be erected in the campus area.

The Monogram Club of the Medical College of Virginia was organized January 15, 1951, with the purpose of promoting and maintaining a high level of interest in athletic activities throughout the student body and faculty of the school, and promoting a higher degree of co-operation among the athletes of the Medical College of Virginia.

The Club is composed of students who have been awarded a letter by the coach of a major sport; at this time the major sports being basketball, baseball and softball.

VARSITY

As the 1952-53 basketball season came to a close, it found Wray Sherman's scrappy hardwood aggregation with a record of eight wins against six setbacks. In addition to "Bootsy" Dolsey, Tom Haller, "Chubby" Sharp, Tommy Jobe, Jim Leonard, and "Babe" Deputy, returning lettermen from last year, the services of Bill Schmidt, "Sticks" McLean, and Rod King were added to make this year's team a strong contender at all times.

Wray Sherman
Coach

When the whistle sounded for the first game of the season, the Medicos found themselves up against a highly favored University of Richmond team, and although the score was tied at the half, Richmond's superior reserve power showed itself in the later stages of the game, with the final tabulation showing a 91-65 defeat for M.C.V. The following week found better results, however, as the Medicos showed new life in their upset victory over Mt. St. Mary's 75-73. Though the next two games found the Shermanmen at the short end of two heart-breaking one point losses to the Richmond Professional Institute and Hampden-Sydney, the following three games showed them again in the winning column, with a sound trouncing of the Union Theological Seminary, an upset victory over Randolph-Macon, and a solid victory over William and Mary of Norfolk.

The winning streak was short-lived, however, as the following week the Dixie Containers took us into camp with a sound 91-75 defeat, only to be surprised two weeks later when the trick was turned with the Medicos winning the return engagement 70-58.

Other victories of the season were over Newport Apprentice, R.P.L., and the Union Theological Seminary for the second time, while both William and Mary of Norfolk and Newport Apprentice came back to win the second game of their home-and-home series.

Outstanding performances of the season were the 43 points chalked up by "Sticks" McLean in the second U.T.S. game, and the 26 and 25 points dumped in by Bill Schmidt against Randolph-Macon and the Dixie Containers respectively. "Bootsy" Dolsey's fine floor play along with Rod King's and Tom Haller's fine work under the basket were strong contributing factors to this year's fine record.

BASKETBALL

MEDICETTES

Ludy Hoover
Captain

Another year is almost finished and the Medicettes are still on top. This year we attempted the unforeseen—that of capturing the trophies of two city leagues. Looks like we have them both in the bag with the season almost over and only one defeat in either league.

We can say that our team really represents the Medical College. There's Gowdy from the Lab Techs, Phythian from Pharmacy, Sherren, Moore, and Siekles from the P. T. School, Hoover from Medicine, and from Nursing—oh, they're too numerous to mention!

Coach Ludy Hoover should be handed a note of congratulations for taking these gals of all trades and weaving them into a fine team with plenty of "know-how."

INDIVIDUALS

Sarah Bryant: Manager—Dependable.

Jean Hayter: Sponsor from the M.C.V. Faculty.

Ludy Hoover: Coach—scored 116 points—good leader.

LoAnn Coles: Co-Captain—high scorer with 189 points.

Jean Gowdy: Co-Captain—the fanciest passer you ever did see.

Jane Neece: Best all-around player on the team—star guard.

Pat Calloway: A new-comer with plenty of vim and vigor.

Pat Trusselle: Another pre-clin—excellent on the rebounds.

Betty Sherren: "Long John." No one can stop this giant when she's of mind to sink a goal.

Lil Butner: A high-stepping forward whose presence was missed for a greater part of the season.

Others: Sickles, Moore, B. Lewis, Robinson, Griffin, Graube, Brennan, Phythian—who deserve as much credit as anyone for their ability, their loyalty and their fine sportsmanship.

We've played 22 games up to date with 19 wins and only 3 losses. Five games have been played outside the leagues: two with Camp Pickett, two with McGuire and one with E. Glen Jordan.

Our appreciation goes to all who helped make this year a success.

ALPHA SIGMA CHI, founded fifteen years ago at the Medical College of Virginia, is an honorary society organized to serve the college and student body and to grant recognition to those who by meeting high standards of leadership, scholarship and character have demonstrated ability and willingness to play roles in carrying on student activities.

Members are chosen from the schools of Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy, and Nursing. An honorary member is chosen annually from among the faculty.

Prime purposes of the society are to provide an organization with lofty ideals entirely above smallness, politics, or personal favoritism and to create a spirit of fellowship and co-operation among students in the four schools.

What Is a Doctor's Investment?

In addition to long years of hard work and preparation, it is estimated by one authority that a doctor's investment in his profession is approximately $30,000.

The doctor's investment is unlike that of a business man who can show a tangible business property that can be sold when he wants to retire, or at death, whereas the value of a physician's business, except for office equipment and furniture, lies solely in his ability to earn during his earning years.

How, then, can a doctor protect his investment for absolute security? The sure way is through ownership of adequate life insurance to safeguard against the two inevitable threats to every man—death or old age. For absolute protection of your investment for future security, buy all the life insurance you can. An Atlantic Life representative will be happy to assist in planning your life insurance estate.

FINIS

With this, we put a finis on the 1953 X-RAY. You will find in some ways it is only another routine annual. We hope, although, that you will find enough individuality in the book to mean more than just another edition.

Believing in giving credit where credit is due, we feel that we should give recognition to some of those who have contributed to whatever success this book will have. Publishing a yearbook, even though it only comes out once a year, is no easy job and requires concentrated work the entire school year by a great number of people.

Of course the most indispensable group is the Staff itself without whose help, oftentimes unrewarded, the X-RAY would never become a reality. We would like to particularly mention a few names whose services have been most valuable, as Fuller Robinson, Bill Harlan, Julie Moller, Elizabeth Shelton, Betty Sue Baker, Sal DiFedes, Clara Brauer, Edwin Irish, Ronald Levin, Bob Chevalier, and Jeannie Partin. We could mention every person on the Staff because each member was indispensable in making the X-RAY just what it is.

The 1953 X-RAY would also like to express its deep appreciation to William W. Blankenship of the Richmond Engraving Company and Lester Chandler and M. H. Jones of Everett Wadley Company. Another vote of thanks should go to Steve Wallace of Columbia Studios for their splendid assistance and co-operation in making this X-RAY possible. All the above-mentioned have co-operated better than we could ask for and their services have meant much to the success of this book.

We would like to extend our appreciation to Miss Thelma Hoke, Secretary to Dr. Sanger, and Miss Skinner, Secretary of the Alumni Association, for their many assistances. We would also like to thank our loyal advertisers, who again have given their generous support to our yearbook.

We hope you like the 1953 X-RAY. We hope that it will mean something to you as you leave Richmond and the Medical College, some for the last time. We hope that this book can serve to perpetuate some of the many "footprints" you have left among the walks and corridors of MCV during your brief stay here. We hope that in future years you will not just have a tie that recalls a few memories of college, but also that you will have a publication through which an entire way of life at the Medical College of Virginia can again become a reality.

—THE STAFF.
